

Krishnendu Chakrabarty (F-IEEE) is Professor of Electrical & Computer Engineering at Duke University USA, and Chair Professor of Software Theory at Tsinghua University China. Prof. Chakrabarty's research interests include IC testing and design-for-testability, digital microfluidics, biochips, cyberphysical systems, and optimization of digital print and enterprise systems. He has authored 11 books on these topics (with two more in press), published over 400 papers, and given 180 invited, keynote, and plenary talks. Prof. Chakrabarty is the Editor-in-Chief of IEEE Design & Test of Computers and ACM Journal on Emerging Technologies in Computing Systems. He serves as an Associate Editor of IEEE Transactions on Computer-Aided Design of Integrated Circuits and Systems, IEEE Transactions on Circuits and Systems II, and IEEE Transactions on Biomedical Circuits and Systems, and he is an Editor of the Journal of Electronic Testing: Theory and Applications. He received the B. Tech. from the Indian Institute of Technology, Kharagpur (1990) and the M.S.E. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor (1992 and 1995).

Prof. Chakrabarty is a recipient of the National Science Foundation Early Faculty (CAREER) award, the Office of Naval Research Young Investigator award, the Humboldt Research Fellowship from the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation Germany, and several IEEE best papers awards. He is a Golden Core Member of the IEEE Computer Society, and an ACM Distinguished Engineer. He was a 2009 Invitational Fellow of the Japan Society for the Promotion of Science (JSPS). He is a recipient of the 2008 Duke University Graduate School Dean's Award and the 2010 Capers and Marion McDonald Award for excellence in mentoring and advising. He served as a Distinguished Visitor of the IEEE Computer Society (2005-2007) and a Distinguished Lecturer of the IEEE Circuits and Systems Society (2006-2007). Currently he serves as an ACM Distinguished Speaker and an IEEE Computer Society Distinguished Visitor (2010-2012), as well as an IEEE Circuits and Systems Society Distinguished Lecturer (2012-2013).
